In some locations, for instance, senior drivers must provide a medical certificate to confirm that they are medically fit to drive.

If an International Driving License is required, you will need to present both your international driver's license and your domestic license for pick-up. It is possible that drivers renting a car in their home country, but residing in a different country, may be required by the car rental company to present a driver's license from the country where the car is being rented. Failure to present this license may result in the car not being delivered. For holders of a UK driving license please visit DVLA for an update on recent changes to the paper counterpart effective from 8th June 2015.
